Nick Eicher is an Associate in the firm's Phoenix office. Nick's practice includes community association general counsel and litigation, in addition to insurance defense litigation. Prior to joining the firm, Nick worked for an insurance company in Phoenix, Arizona, where he provided guidance on a variety of regulatory compliance issues and settled claims.

Nick earned his law degree from Saint Louis University. He honed his oral advocacy skills as a member of the Moot Court team, representing Saint Louis University in the National Moot Court Competition. He also externed for Magistrate Judge David D. Noce at the US District Court for the Eastern District of Missouri.

Outside of the office, Nick enjoys hiking and spending time with family and friends. He is an avid St. Louis sports fan, and particularly enjoys watching St. Louis Blues hockey.
